Value-based healthcare is improving the health and well-being of tens of millions of Americans, including Medicare beneficiaries. A key enabler of this change is the array of innovative models for paying health care providers differently than in the past. Today, forward-thinking healthcare providers are successfully delivering better patient care at lower costs through alternative payment models such as accountable care organizations, which link payment to outcomes and costs.

Join us for an educational lunch briefing featuring leading experts, clinicians, and patients as we explore key features of these important reforms. You'll hear directly from some of the nation's leading providers and health systems on their success in transitioning to alternative payment models, and essential actions that Congress can take to ensure the ongoing success of value-based payment initiatives.

Opening remarks will be provided by two of the leading physicians serving in Congress: Rep. Ami Bera (D-CA) and Rep. Brad Wenstrup (R-OH). The panel will be moderated by Dr. Mark McClellan, former CMS administrator, FDA commissioner, and founding Director of the Duke-Margolis Center for Health Policy at Duke University.

Featuring:

- Dr. Kisha Davis, Vice President of Health Equity, Aledade, Inc.
- Dr. Robert Fields, Chief Population Health Officer, Mount Sinai Health System
- Dr. Jon Regis, Village Medical
- Dr. Richard Shuman, CEO, Baycare Health Partners
